identifying effective approaches to creating coherent policies regarding licit and illicit drugs has been the priority of the pompidou group during its 2010 14 work programme over the years research has evolved in this field as demonstrated in the group s publications from a policy on illegal drugs to a policy on psychoactive substances in 2008 and towards an integrated policy on psychoactive substances a theoretical and empirical analysis in 2010 and then reflections on the concept of coherency for a policy on psychoactive substances and beyond in 2012 this last publication attempted to put into perspective the salient points of what may be termed a coherent policy on psychoactive substances it proposed six indicators around which the concept of coherency was developed conceptualisation policy context legislative and regulatory frameworks strategic frameworks responses interventions and structures and resources the initial target for the use of these six indicators is that all drugs policies should be in line with the concept of well being at the very least they should not contradict each other and at best they should be in harmony on this basis in 2013 and 2014 researchers refined these indicators and tested them in their countries namely croatia the czech republic hungary ireland israel italy norway and portugal to verify whether they provided a valid tool to measure the effectiveness and efficiency of a coherent policy on psychoactive substances the results appear in this publication and indicate that such markers may be indeed used as a basis for discussion on the issue of coherence and in some cases as a means to better implement coherent policies in respect to psychoactive substances and also possibly policies that address other forms of addictive behaviour

on 14 february 2012 the european commission presented its first alert mechanism report amr prepared in accordance with article 3 of regulation eu no 1176/2011 on the prevention and correction of macroeconomic imbalances the amr serves as an initial screening device helping to identify member states that warrant further in depth analysis to determine whether imbalances exist or risk emerging according to article 5 of regulation no 1176 2011 these country specific in depth reviews should examine the nature origin and severity of macroeconomic developments in the member state concerned which constitute or could lead to imbalances on the basis of this analysis the commission will establish whether it considers that an imbalance exists and what type of policy follow up it will recommend to the council the amr suggested the need to look more closely at whether the uk is suffering from macroeconomic imbalances of an internal and external nature the amr noted that on the internal side the high level of private debt is a concern also in a context of a weak public finance situation with high and increasing government debt the high value of private debt largely reflects household mortgages in a context of high accumulated increases in house prices while both the levels of real household debt and real house prices have reduced they still remain comparatively high which suggests that their unwinding has further to go where the speed of adjustment is an important aspect on the external side the uk lost export market share over the last decade although some stabilisation can be noted in recent years this loss of market shares took place despite a substantial depreciation of sterling between 2007 and 2009 at the same time and since 1997 the uk recorded small but significant current account deficits albeit below the indicative threshold the purpose of the present in depth review is to investigate the findings presented in the amr and to ascertain whether macroeconomic imbalances of either an internal or external nature effectively exist in the uk and if so whether they are excessive in the meaning of regulation no 1176 2011 sections 2 and 3 of this review analyse the existence and nature of potential macroeconomic imbalances in the uk section 2 takes a broad perspective of the uk economy while section 3 focuses on two potential areas of concern for the uk household debt and the housing market on the one hand and external competitiveness on the other hand section 4 presents possible policy considerations eu bookshop wildlife management specialists and landscape ecologists offer a new perspective on the important intersection of these fields in the twenty first century it s been clear for decades that landscape level patterns and processes along with the tenets and tools of landscape ecology are vitally important in understanding wildlife habitat relationships and sustaining wildlife populations today significant shifts in the spatial scale of extractive agricultural ranching and urban land uses are upon us making it more important than ever before to connect wildlife management and landscape ecology landscape ecologists must understand the constraints that wildlife managers face and be able to use that knowledge to translate their work into more practical applications wildlife managers for their part can benefit greatly from becoming comfortable with the vocabulary conceptual processes and perspectives of landscape ecologists in wildlife management and landscapes the foremost landscape ecology experts and wildlife management specialists come together to discuss the emerging role of landscape concepts in habitat management their contributions make the case that a landscape perspective is necessary to address management questions translate concepts in landscape ecology to wildlife management explain why studying some important habitat wildlife relationships is still inherently difficult explore the dynamic and heterogeneous structure of natural systems reveal why factors such as soil hydrology fire grazing and timber harvest lead to uncertainty in management decisions explain matching scale between population processes and management discuss limitations to management across jurisdictional boundaries and balancing objectives of private landowners and management agencies offer practical ideas for improving communication between professionals outline the impediments that limit a full union of landscape ecology and wildlife management using concrete examples of modern conservation challenges that range from oil and gas development to agriculture and urbanization the volume posits that shifts in conservation funding from a hunter constituent base to other sources will bring a dramatic change in the way we manage wildlife explicating the foundational similarity of wildlife management and landscape ecology wildlife and landscapes builds crucial bridges between theoretical and practical applications contributors jocelyn l aycrigg guillaume bastille rousseau jon p beckmann joseph r bennett william m block todd r bogenschutz teresa c cohn john w connelly courtney j conway bridgett e costanzo david d diamond karl a didier lee f elliott michael e estey lenore fahrig cameron j fiss jacqueline l frair elsa m haubold fidel hernández jodi a hilty joseph d holbrook cynthia a jacobson kevin m johnson jeffrey k keller jeffery l larkin kimberly a lisgo casey a lott amanda e martin james a martin darin j mcneil michael l morrison betsy e neely neal d niemuth chad j parent humberto l perotto baldivieso ronald d pritchert fiona k a schmiegelow amanda l sesser gregory j soulliere leona k svancara stephen c torbit joseph a veech kerri t vierling greg wathen david m williams mark j witecha john m yeiser
